Triluma's unique formulation combines the effective ingredients hydroquinone, tretinoin, and fluocinolone acetonide to target melasma from multiple angles. Hydroquinone works to lighten the darkened areas, while tretinoin promotes cell turnover for a smoother, more even skin texture. Fluocinolone acetonide helps to reduce inflammation, a common contributor to melasma flare-ups. This synergistic action makes Triluma a highly effective treatment for even the most persistent cases of melasma, offering visible results with consistent use. Remember, always consult your dermatologist before starting any new skincare regimen.

Many users report seeing a noticeable improvement in their melasma within weeks of using Triluma, experiencing a reduction in the size and intensity of dark spots.
